ABOUT THE CIA

The Certified Internal Auditor is the premier certification offered by the Institute of Internal Auditors (IIA). CIA candidates should fulfill requirements related to education, experience and ethics, among others. CIA candidates are expected to:

- Possess current knowledge of The IIA's International Professional Practices Framework (IPPF) and demonstrate appropriate use.
- Be able to perform an audit engagement with minimal supervision in conformance with The IIA's Global Internal Audit Standards.
- Understand and use critical judgement to apply the various concepts covered by the CIA® exam syllabi topics.

For more information, please visit the IIA website and read the Certification Candidate Handbook.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The CIASP CIA Self Review Program is a unique and intensive program that will prepare the participants to hurdle the CIA examination. This program is designed to be flexible and adaptable to the needs of the participant. It is ideal for participants who do not have the time and availability to be physically present in a full-length Saturday-session regular CIA review program. This would also benefit individuals whose learning styles are more suited to individual pacing with personalized guidance from experienced mentors.

The program features are:

- Comprehensive content and methodology based on the CIA exam syllabus;
- Strong line-up of experienced mentors and subject matter experts who are also topnotchers in the CIA, CPA and CISA exams;
- Highly effective reading materials, practice questions, review notes and mock exams. This will be sent online through email and with link to google drive; practice questions can also be accessed online.
- Coaching and mentoring assistance up to the successful completion of the CIA journey. This can be conducted online (email, messaging; Zoom meeting), through calls or scheduled sit-down consultation sessions, as applicable.

The CIASP Program has already produced successful CIA examinees.

PROGRAM MECHANICS

- The Self Study Modules will be released in phases or in sequence.
- For example, in Part 1, there are four modules composed of:
 - One Preliminary Module (i.e. covering the introduction and information on the exam)
 - Four Subject Modules (i.e. covering the topics in the exam syllabus)
- We will first release the Preliminary Module. After this, we will release Module 1.
- Each Self-Study Module is composed of:
 - Study Instructions
 - Theory folder (references, reading materials, and video recording)
 - Practice folder (practice questions); or link to the Google form
 - Learning Assistance Page (where you can input your questions and clarifications that we can answer)
- You will complete each module by reading the references, listening to video recordings and answering the practice questions.
 - We estimate about one to two weeks to complete each module.

- For example, in Part 1, since there are four modules, you can complete this in about four to eight weeks. However, this is only an estimate as the actual pacing will depend on you.
- We will provide analysis of your test results and areas for improvement after each module, as applicable.
- We will release the next module (e.g. Module 2) only after you have completed the previous module (e.g. Module 1).
- For queries and clarifications on the topics, you can do this through:
 - Email
 - Call
 - Zoom meeting
 - Scheduled sit-down consultations (as applicable, to be done in Makati)
 - Sit-in, for free, in our regular in-person CIA review classes or online review class
- After you complete all the Self-Study Modules for each Part, we will provide a Progress Report so you will have an idea on your readiness for the exam and the areas for improvement.
- You can then move to the final phase of the exam preparation through:
 - Review Notes. These are summaries of the key concepts, with matching questions, for better memory retention and sharper analysis of the exam questions.
 - Short Tests
 - Mock Exam
 - Final Progress and Status Report. This will give you the final pointers and areas to focus on before taking the exam.
